

Care Chart Question

COMMUNICATION · ONE LINE

Leah stops at the class pet's care chart by the cage. The Monday food box is blank, and the seed scoop is missing. A damp towel sits under the water bottle spout. The teacher asks Leah to bring the attendance folder now. Both jobs need the same few minutes at the start. Leah needs a clear answer, and the cage latch stays closed.

> Write the exact sentence Leah should say.

Leah needs to tell the teacher that the pet chart and attendance folder both need the same few minutes, then ask which job comes first.

- the attendance folder job
- the pet chart and water bottle job
- a question about which job comes first

> Example: Should I bring the attendance folder now, or mark the pet chart and check the dripping water bottle first?

> Responses will vary. Accept any answer the student can give a practical reason for.

Think about it: What makes Leah's question easy for the teacher to answer?

TEACHER NOTE

Responses will vary. A strong answer names both jobs and asks the teacher to choose the first job. Accept any clear one-sentence question that includes the pet care task and the attendance folder.
